

STATE ISSUES

- POLICY STATEMENT -

The health and vitality of State and local economies continue to be a top priority.

Local governments are finding it necessary to pay for “unfunded mandates” by passing the costs on to local citizens. Specifically, local property owners are seeing continuing increases in their school and property taxes. These increased taxes are a hardship for rural landowners, particularly farmers. Farmers are major landowners who rely on their land to generate their livelihood while they pay a disproportionate share of property tax. We therefore support legislation that would lessen the financial burden imposed by unfunded, mandated programs affecting local and rural citizens.

We strongly support the agricultural industry which makes vital contributions to the quality of life in our State by creating jobs, generating revenue, producing safe and wholesome products, and allowing us to sustain open spaces and beautiful rural landscapes. New York State continues to maintain approximately one-quarter of the total land area in this great State for agriculture.

We encourage the research and development of safe, economical, and environmentally friendly alternative energy sources. We support improving recycling practices and encourage all citizens to do their part to protect our environment.

Tax relief is essential to the revitalization of rural communities. We support legislation that addresses this issue.

On time passage of the annual New York State budget is very important. We support a timely annual New York State Budget.

The power of eminent domain should be used only for public projects, to exclude the taking of property for private economic development.

We favor the election of our judges and the retention of our town and village justice courts.

The safety of everyone using our public highways is important. We support the enforcement of New York State Vehicle and Traffic Laws. We encourage public education of distracted driving and driver awareness through the utilization of the Governor’s Traffic Safety Council, Driver Education Programs and Public Service Announcements.

The New York State Grange has an ongoing concern for the safety of children, families and other vulnerable individuals. It is important that local communities be provided with information regarding sexual and domestic violence offenders living there, to be able to better protect those who may be at risk. We support the prompt reporting to the proper authorities of missing children. We support legislation that prevents human trafficking.

New York State Government should not infringe on any rights guaranteed in the United States or New York State constitutions.
